

AD 132

China

Zheng Heng invented his
"earthquake weathercock"

It was a seismograph. He used it to announce to the court that a distant earthquake had occurred and from what direction

132-5AD

Second Jewish Revolt
(Roman War)

AD 132

---

Failure of Jewish rebellion against Rome leads to diaspora (dispersal of Jews) from Judaea.

132-5 AD

In Judaea, the Second Jewish Revolt led by Simon Bar Kosiba (Bar Kochba) broke out because Hadrian had decreed the refoundation of Jerusalem as a Roman Colony under the name of Aelia Capitolina.

This ended in failure accompanied by a huge loss of life and property the principal center of Jewish habitation

in the country was henceforward Galilee, to which the Jamnia Academy moved. The Romans authorized a reconstituted Jewish Council of which its most notable chairman (patriarch) was Judah I ha-Nasi (135-219), regarded as the principal editor of the MISHNAH

C132 AD

---

Hadrian completed the enfranchisement of Gaul & Spain.

132-135

Revolt of BAR COCHBA
Jews under Simon Bar Cochba (Bar Kabbah) (d135)
revolted against Roman rule.

Jewish revolt under BAR KOKHBAH.

Was severely repressed by Julius Severus.

132-135 AD

A heroic attempt by Jews to regain independence under BAR-COCHBA in 132-7135 AD, failed miserably. Hadrian completed Titus's work of dispersion

Hadrian excluded the Jews from Jerusalem.

132-135

Jur Hist

Bar KOKHBA was in Egy Israel

132

Jewish revolt began.

AD 132

Hadrian planned to raise a new ~~site~~ city on the site where Jerusalem had been destroyed (66-74). Part of plan was the building of a temple to Jupiter Capitolinus on the site of the old Temple of Solomon. The Jews could not accept desecration of their holiest place & in 132 they rose in revolt under the leadership of Sennar Bar - Kochba.

The governor of Britain was despatched to deal with the rebellion followed soon afterwards by Hadrian himself.

Over 500,000 rebels were killed, but by end of 135 peace had been reimposed. This was Hadrian's only major war.